

CANTINA DI VICOBARONE

A SOUL, TWO HUNDRED HEARTS AND GREAT WINES

A SOUL,
TWO HUNDRED HEARTS
AND GREAT WINES

Cantina di Vicobarone: a long tradition

1960 Cantina di Vicobarone

has been established in the heart of Val Tidone valley, in Vicobarone of Ziano Piacentino (70 km from Milan)

Nowadays it has 200 associated wine growing producers 700 hectares in the DOC Colli Piacentini area

Genius loci: Spirit of place

Vicobarone wine is a pure expression of people and land, cultural social and historical element of local communities

Viticulture and wine production as a way to enjoy the land and its richness, improving its agricultural, human and traditional value

The landscape

A unique scenario: the Pianura Padana fascinating foggy area, crossed by the longest Italian river, Po, and the Colline Piacentine hilly area with its fresh valleys dotted by medieval castles, memory of the feudal history

Landscapes unchanged for centuries where agriculture and viticulture, already present in Roman times, have been rightly settled and concentrated on the rolling hills

Soil and climate

Vicobarone soils are very deep, with clayey texture, very calcareous, moderately or strongly alkaline

The substrate made up of marl and clayey marl

The temperate and always ventilated climate,

the beautiful exposures on the slopes of the valleys,

offer a perfect habitat for the wine

Vicobarone autochthones grapes

The Colline Piacentine landscape is a continuous succession of vineyards, little villages and castles, where several kind of autochthone grapes have been valued and protected

The autochthone grapes make Cantina Vicobarone unique!

Etichette certificate V.I.V.A.

The Italian Ministry of Environment, Land and Sea, throughout the V.I.V.A. sustainable wine project, recognized Cantina di Vicobarone to implement a sustainable approach in the production process of two bottled wines: the Gutturnio D.O.C. Colli Piacentini (red semi-sparkling wine) and the Malvasia D.O.C. Colli Piacentini (white semi-sparkling wine). V.I.V.A. sustainable wine project introduces a holistic approach based on four indicators: vineyard, air, water and territory in order to measure, monitor and improve company performances.
